The Dog Skin Pack for Games of Thrones is pretty self explanatory: it gives you the opportunity to change the appearance of Mors' dog into either a God's Eye Mastiff or a Dornish Hound from the main menu. Said skins are also purely cosmetic and don't impact the gameplay in any meaningful way.

I'd suggest you to buy this DLC only if you love either one skin or both very much, I suppose. This DLC gives you the opportunity to get rid of the awfully textured original dog and replace them with two good dogs. If you hate Mors' dog with a passion then you need this DLC pack for its low price its an OK DLC but if you would rather spend your $1 on skins for CS: GO or anything different like that then be my guest but this is not worth the price if you are only playing the game once since you really won't care much the main time you see the dog is when you stealth attack an enemy with the dog otherwise you really shouldn't care however I do recommend this DLC for fans of this game and only those people I would just play the game.. The Dornish Hound looks cooler indeed. You will have company by the dog through 80% of the game.

You even play as the dog and give him orders.

So let the dogs out and buy this DLC.. If only all skin packs could be priced like this, at a dollar or less. I personally enjoy the look of the God's Eye Mastiff.. This DLC add additional 2 dog skins for your game. Not must-have (as it doesn't add any bonus, quest, etc..), but if you get it in the bundle with the main game, the skins are pretty good. Also, you will spend a lot of time playing as the dog (and it is so much fun!), so you should feel good in your...fur.
